Big mark on starboard side, after contact with Vrengen

Contact: Significant Contact

At the start, we (Peppercorn) were lying in wait for the leeward start boat to move down. As we bore away and began tightening the sails, Vrengen came at full speed between us and the windward start boat. The rigs made contact, and the boats were quickly pressed together. Fortunately, the rigs came free before they broke, but Peppercorn sustained some damage to the starboard side hull.

Damage: Significant Damage:

Green mark on starboard side. The rig seems to be okay, but we haven't investigated it deeply, other than visual.

Repair: No Repair Attempted
