

Date: 2021-08-03

Question No: 04

Question For: Protest Committee

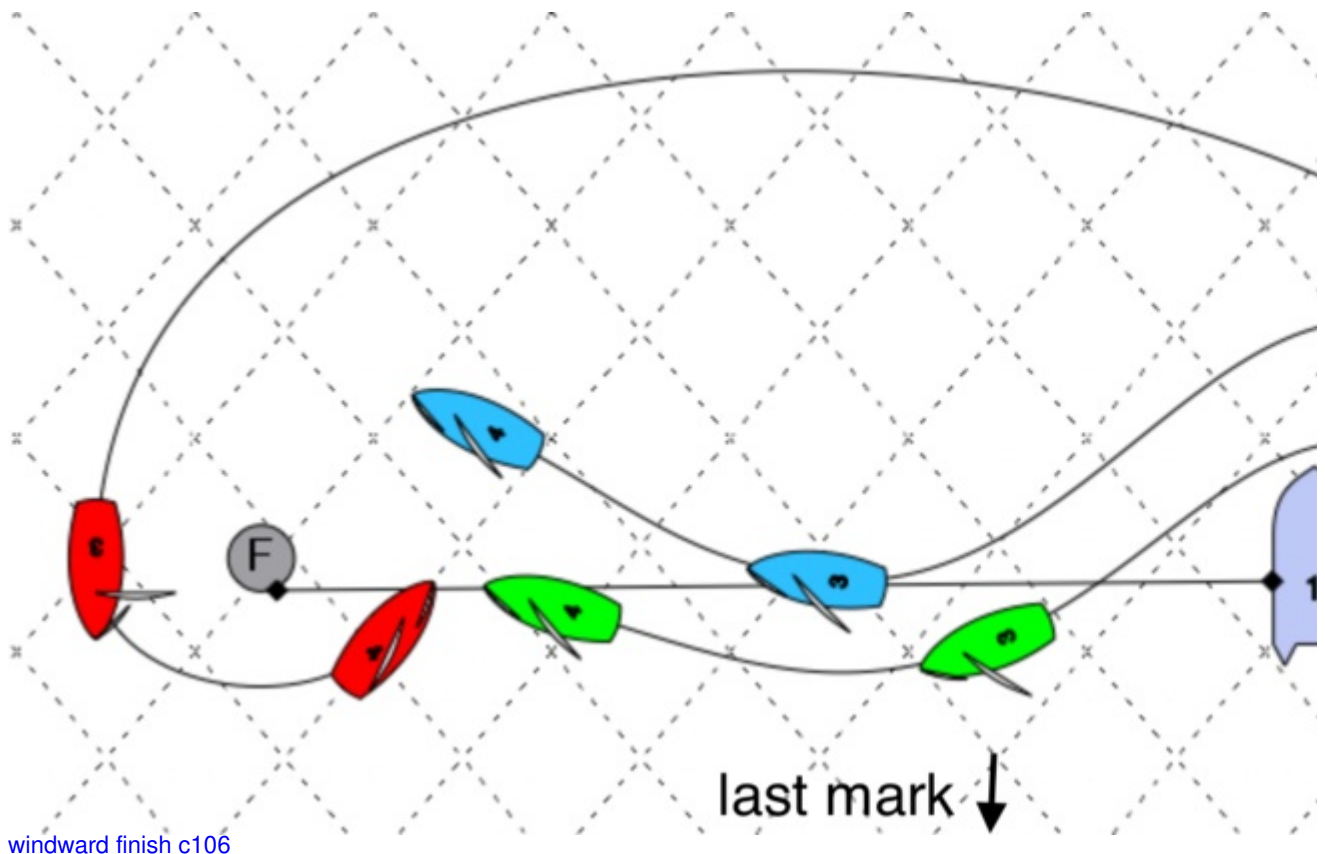

Question:

Dear Protest Committee,
I have a questions regarding case 106 and finishing after sailing beyond the finish line.

Facts:

Windward finish. Several boats approaching the finish from well over the lay line. Red rounds the finishing vessel and the finishing mark before crossing the line to finish. Blue rounds the finishing vessel and does not sail with her whole hull on the course side before luffing to cross the finish. Green also rounds the finishing vessel but sails fully towards the course side before luffing to cross the finish.

Question: Which boats have finished and sailed the course correctly? (see attached diagram)

Question 2: How is a finish line different from sailing through a gate in regards to Definition: sailing the course (c)?

Kind regards
GER 9695

Answer:

Red finished and sailed the course
Green finished but failed to sail the course

Blue finished if any part of the hull crossed the finishing line but failed to sail the course.

Question 2: i don't understand the question.

Dont esitate to contact me again if you have other question.

Brs

Carmelo

Response By Carmelo Paroli Printed at Sun, 05 May 2024 19:17:13 +0000