7. Description Of Incident

I was starboard sailing down when the UAE boat tacked. When he tacked, I immediately shouted starboard starboard. I continued sailing my course before realising that he was around 1 boat length away from me when I shouted louder and clearer "starboard". He did not change his course or even try to tack. At that moment, I had tried to avoid contact by bearing down, but he let lose of his mainsheet and my bow had gotten caught in it.

Even though my bow was caught in his mainsheet, he showed absolutely no remorse in bothering about my safety and proceeded to shout at me something that I could not hear.

I ended up capsizing and upon uprighting my boat, I was dead last. I had to fight my way to my position but my score was damaged significantly.
