7. Description Of Incident

Sailing upwind on port tack in the first leg of race 8. There was a rib not apart of the regatta cruising slowly downwind in direct line of our course we were trying to get their attention by hailing to them but they did not see or hear us, so we began to bear away to avoid collision, this is when they saw us and began to motor away causing us to alter our course again and this time being forced head to wind for a significant period of time to attempt to avoid collision. This is when they hit the port side of our boat halfway up causing us to directly stop and fall to windward. In result to this incident we lost 8-10 positions.
