7. Description Of Incident

The boat's Flymaax V2 15 kite has been found to have a difference compared to the registered design which has been submitted to the IKA. In detail, the leading edge air vent flaps are smaller than the originally submitted design. The width of this part in this kite is 15mm compared to the 30mm width of the original part. Attached image shows the original (red color kite) and the kite in question (black). The width and height of the vent opening is the same in both kites, only the flap (white part) is different.

This kite was damaged and substituted to another one so it has not been used for the whole regatta period until now.
